

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

FELLOWSHIPS

2022/23

Fellowships on Artificial Intelligence and other pressing research topics in the field of international politics

Artificial Intelligence has become a key factor in geostrategic politics and will have decisive impact on the future world order. However, research and debates about this important theme are still at the earliest stages. The AIA NRW aims to open up an interdisciplinary platform and initiate discussions and collaborations in the field of Artificial Intelligence and International Politics. Applications on other pressing research questions in the field of International Politics are also welcome.

Senior and young researchers from all academic disciplines holding at least a doctoral degree, and practitioners from politics, business and civil society are invited to apply for:

Fellowships of the duration of one to ten months at the AIA NRW in Bonn.

Applicants are expected to submit a letter of motivation (with details of the requested period of stay), a description of their envisaged project at the AIA NRW (max. 6 pages), a CV, a list of publications or former projects and electronic copies of either three reviewed journal publications or one individually authored book.

This call is for fellow residencies in the period May 2022 through March 2023. Further information can be found here: www.aia-nrw.org/calls

The applications must be submitted by 14 February 2022

About AIA NRW

In times of global transformations, changes, and new challenges, international action is required to secure the future of generations to come. The mission of the Academy of International Affairs (AIA NRW) is to play an active role in shaping these transformations. It invites the brightest minds from research, politics, and civil society to discuss new paths forward and envision solutions for the future.

At its core lies an international and interdisciplinary fellowship program, which invites outstanding candidates to spend several months in Bonn, Germany. The AIA NRW is an independent and non-partisan fellowship institute fully funded by the Federal State of North-Rhine Westphalia. It offers a perfect environment for study and mutual exchange. The city of Bonn is the headquarters for many key actors in academia, media, the United Nations and civil society. The AIA NRW aims to be partner and host to these actors.
